

Think no one understands your business?

Market uncertainties. A “third-world” grid. Global warming. Work-force shortages. Emerging technologies. Energy storage. Security vulnerabilities. And much more.

With thirty years in the business, Jason Makansi gives you a no-holds-barred look at the challenges facing our electricity infrastructure, what must be done to overcome them, and how to work constructively with elected officials and community leaders.

978-0-470-10918-2 • June 2007

Available wherever books are sold.

